DEDICATION

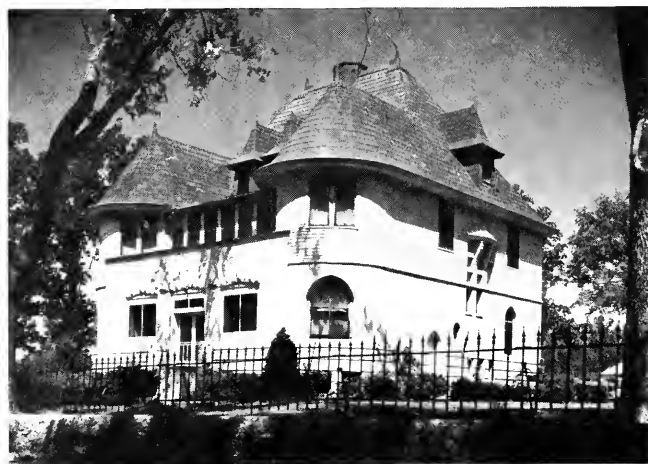

"An institution is the lengthened shadow of one man."

— Ralph Waldo Emerson

With affection, appreciation, and humble pride, we dedicate this book to Dean Curtis Laws Wilson. An educator, administrator, engineer, author, speaker, and raconteur of world renown, he has won our recognition as a friend to students. We have always found his door open to us, and he has always taken time to listen to our problems. Though at all times a firm disciplinarian, he could forgive our shortcomings when our intent was not at fault and he could understand our weaknesses and our position. He rejoiced with us in our accomplishments and triumphs, and he shared with us in our disappointments.

Our Alma Mater has flourished and prospered under his guidance, and it reflects his influence in every facet of its growth. Thousands of students have developed into engineers and men under his shadow; future students will grow and prosper under his lengthening shadow as the school, the campus, and the alumni fulfill his plans and ideals.

The home of Dean Wilson.

The Dean and Mrs. Wilson.

To the Class of 1963:

The graduation of the class of 1963 has for me a special and very personal significance. You are the last class whose diplomas I have the privilege and honor of signing. Of the more than eleven thousand diplomas granted since the first commencement in 1874, I am most proud of the fact that my signature is on 8500 MSM diplomas. The recipients of these diplomas are people who bring credit and glory to this School.

Now you are joining their ranks. The road has not been easy for any of you. Engineering and science curricula are not designed for the weak or those of mediocre intelligence. You are to be congratulated upon your accomplishments and this initial goal which you have achieved.

Attributed to former U. S. President Calvin Coolidge is the definition of education as "the process by which each individual creates his own universe and determines the dimensions thereof." The attainment of your academic degree means that you have created for yourself a "universe" of service in the fields of engineering and science. My wish for you is that the dimensions of your universe may constantly increase, as may also your own personal happiness and welfare.

Curtis L. Wilson

DEAN CURTIS LAWS

Dr. Curtis L. Wilson, dean of Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy since 1941, was born August 29, 1898, in Baltimore, Maryland.

Gifts presented on Dean Wilson Day.

After graduating from high school there in 1916, he went west and enrolled at Montana School of Mines, graduating in 1920. He worked as assistant research engineer for Anaconda Copper Mining Company until 1921, when he joined the faculty of Montana School of Mines as an instructor in metallurgy. In 1926 he went to Europe to study at the University of Goettingen in Germany. He received his Ph.D. degree there in 1928 and then returned to Montana School of Mines as Professor of Metallurgical Engineering. In 1941 he came to Rolla to his present position.

He was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Engineering by Washington University in St. Louis in 1954, and by Montana School of Mines in 1955. He is the author of a number of technical articles on research metallurgy and co-author of the book, "Metallurgy of Copper."

He has been a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers since 1920 and has served on its Board of Directors.

He has also been chairman of the AIME Education Division and of the Montana and St. Louis sections of the AIME, and is presently vice president of the Society of Mining Engineers of AIME. He is a registered professional engineer and a member of the Missouri Society of Professional Engineers, the National Society of Professional Engineers, the St. Louis Engineers' Club, the Kansas City Engineers' Club, the Mining and Metallurgical Society of America, the American Mining Congress, the Institute of Metals (London), and the British Iron and Steel Institute.

He is a member of the honor societies Tau Beta Pi (engineering), Phi Kappa Phi (scholarship), Sigma Xi (research), Sigma Gamma Epsilon (earth sciences), Pi Tau Sigma (mechanical engineering), Alpha Sigma Mu (metallurgy), Chi Epsilon (civil engineering), and Eta Kappa Nu (electrical engineering).

In 1961 he received the Tasker H. Bliss Medal from the Society of American Military Engineers for contributions to military engineering education. He has been named the recipient of the 1963 Mineral Industry Education Award of the AIME, and recently he was given one of the highest honors that the United States Army can bestow, the Outstanding Service Award.

Representative Carnahan presents resolution from the Missouri Legislature acknowledging Dean Wilson's accomplishments.

When Dean Wilson first came to this school in 1941, there were 79 members of the faculty, including himself and the registrar; at present there are 237 members. The total number of members on the staff was 143; today this number has reached 800. Growth in enrollment and in the number of degrees awarded has been phenomenal during the 22 years of Dean Wilson's tenure. The number of degrees awarded in 1941 was 158, of which 147 were at the Bachelor's level and 4 at the Master's level. There were 7 professional degrees granted that year. In 1962 there were 589 Bachelor's degrees and 82 Master's degrees. Before 1941, 2,767 degrees had been granted, and in 1962 the total had reached 10,748. In 1941 the campus comprised 14 buildings. Now there are 32 buildings, construction on two others is scheduled, and additional buildings have been recommended.

Dean Wilson's influence at the Missouri School of Mines is prominently indicated in all of these statistics — on the growth of the physical campus, on the increase in faculty and academic prestige, on the evolution of a comparatively small technical school into an engineering and science institution of top-ranking importance. Most outstanding in his achievement, however, has been his influence on the lives of the thousands of students who have graduated from the school since he has been its head. No matter how large the enrollment and no matter how numerous the problems related to the development of the school, every graduate who has left the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy has done so feeling that Dean Wilson was his personal friend and would be interested in his success. Students, faculty, and alumni are proud of their association with the fine educational institution Dean Wilson has been so intimately a part of for the past 22 years. His devotion to its exceptional development and his special contributions to its life and welfare have made the Missouri School of Mines an institution worthy of such pride.

Major General Herrick presents Dean Wilson the United States Army Outstanding Service Medal.

THE ADMINISTRATION

The School of Mines and Metallurgy, the engineering division of the University of Missouri, has experienced remarkable expansion since the Second World War. Since 1945 almost twenty million dollars of projects have been completed or are under way. The School of Mines and Metallurgy enjoys a distinguished reputation as a teacher of successful professionals. The policies and standards set by the administration have maintained MSM's reputation as a top engineering school.

The center of each day's activities for most students is the Student Union. The strong Student Union organization has strived to give students a calendar of activities that are interesting and beneficial to all.

Departmental and inter-school mixers, the sponsoring of the Homecoming Queen contest, film classics, and games and tournaments are the main activities sponsored by the Student Union.

CERAMIC ENGINEERING

Ceramics, a conception forwarded to us by prehistoric man, has been refined again and again to give the engineer of today a very important and challenging field of study. Ceramic engineering, the formation of products from non-metallic earthy materials by thermal changes, affords a well-rounded study of the fundamental sciences and allied engineering subjects.

Compared to that of the other major engineering fields, the number of Ceramic graduates per year is small, but the importance of Ceramics in such areas as space travel is becoming immeasurable. The MSM Ceramic Engineering Department is now the fourth largest in the United States.

Individual perfection in technique stressed.

Careful analysis of data essential.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERING & CHEMISTRY

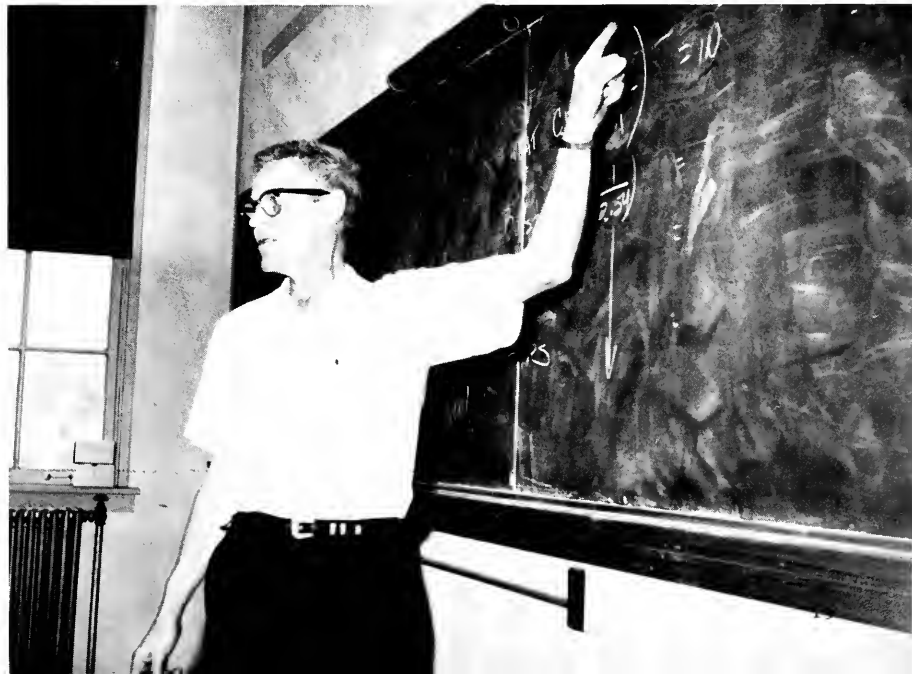

The realization of the possibilities of chemical engineering in a supposedly ultra-modern world of tomorrow has been clearly echoed by the increased emphasis placed on this field by today's educators. The expanded and improved laboratories, the well-manned staff of instructors, and the newly extended graduate doctoral program point to the significance of the Chemical Engineering and Chemistry Department on the Missouri Mines campus.

With the enrollment in chemistry now at a zenith, the future of graduate engineers in this field is understandably optimistic.

Large lecture sections are broken down into smaller recitation groups.

CIVIL ENGINEERING

When the world began and the first signs of civilization appeared, civil engineering also made its appearance. Engineering, the art and science by which natural forces and materials are utilized in structures or machines, is classified in the civil field as the planning, design, and building of private structures and public works.

Specialization, common to all engineering fields, offers the areas of highways, railways, hydraulics, structures, foundations, sanitation, and consulting to an aggressive young man interested in civil engineering.

Modern electronic equipment.

The Electrical Engineering Department engages in a continuous program of modernization and improvement of course work, experimental research, library facilities, and in the procurement and development of a well-qualified faculty.

Wide diversification in choice of study is evident in the following divisions: network analysis and synthesis; electronics and electronic devices; servomechanisms and automatic controls; fields, microwaves, antennas, and radiation; energy conversion and transmission.

Professor LLOYD CHRISTIONSON, Department Chairman.

The primary purpose of the Engineering Graphics Department is to instruct the engineering student in the fundamental principles of drafting techniques. Engineering graphics helps to fulfill the need for effective communication among engineers.

ENGINEERING GRAPHICS

Engineering graphics required for all engineers.

GEOLOGY

Geology is the study of the earth and other celestial bodies through the application of all science and scientific methods. The problems of engineering design, construction, and exploration are the areas in which a geological engineer meets his challenge.

HUMANITIES

The Department of Humanities and Social Studies attempts to fulfill the need of the graduate engineer for a firm grasp of social conditions and pressures. Courses in English grammar, technical report writing, and public speaking stress the importance of clear speaking and writing.

Economics, history, political science, and psychology emphasize some of the social and economic changes the successful engineering businessman must understand and consider. Foreign language is taught as a tool in scientific research, as well as a means of communication.

MATHEMATICS

Some of the greatest scientific advances in history first came about through mathematical application before the actual proof in the laboratory. The Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy, one of the top engineering schools in the nation in size and quality, must have an outstanding mathematics department to prepare its engineers for their role in meeting the demanding challenges of the precisely controlled world of the future.

From basic college algebra to the highly complex theories of differential equations, the department offers exacting courses under well-trained teachers. The design and application of high-speed computers in the engineering field is also taught as a part of the rapidly expanding system of calculation.

MECHANICS

Engineering mechanics is essentially a study of the effects of forces acting on bodies.

Of primary concern to the engineer are the external effects of a system of forces acting on a rigid body. Mechanics courses use applications of mathematical and physical fundamentals to solve problems of engineering design and analysis.

Power plant design, machine design, shop practice, applied mechanics, refrigeration, air conditioning — these are only a few of the many choices available to the mechanical engineering student. One of the major advantages in the mechanical engineering field is that there is less specialization until the final year of the program. This enables the student to obtain a candid picture of the entire mechanical field and carefully decide in which area he will concentrate his efforts after graduation.

Students receive practical training.

MINING

ENGINEERING

Spheres of professional enterprise in which the primary purpose is to secure mineral substances from the earth's crust are administered together as options within the department of Mining Engineering. These spheres are mining geology, mining engineering, and petroleum engineering. Each student may work for complete education in any of the optional fields.

The department offers the degrees of bachelor of science, and doctor of philosophy in any one of the optional fields.

Professor JOHN GOVIER, Department chairman.

METALLURGICAL ENGINEERING

Metallurgy, the art or science of separating metals from their ores and preparing them for use was one of the first engineering curricula offered at MSM. A metallurgy student gets a candid look at what the field of metallurgy can offer in his junior year, when he is required to take the three basic components of the curriculum; physical metallurgy, extractive metallurgy, and minerals. During his senior year, he is permitted to take advanced courses in electro-metallurgy, metallurgical thermodynamics, radiography and nondestructive testing, alloy steels, and powder metallurgy.

PHYSICS

Physics is the foundation upon which engineering and technology is built. It deals with energy in all its forms, with the interaction of matter and energy, and with the structure of matter. All graduates of the school are required to have at least ten hours in general physics before studying further in any engineering field.

In recent years, the number of majors in the department has been increasing rapidly. Academic work is offered leading to the bachelor's and master's degrees in physics and to the Doctorate in engineering physics.

REGISTRATION

The steady increase in enrollment at MSM is making the school's competitive system of education more difficult as time passes. The largest enrollment in the school's ninety year existence made MSM one of the top ten engineering schools in size in the nation.

ORIENTATION

Several days before classes actually begin, new students become acquainted with their new environment. Freshman orientation exams, department tours, and school regulation and policy lectures give the future engineers a thorough picture of what to expect in the next few years.

GREEK WEEK

The IFC Greek Week-End began Friday night with the annual carnival at Lions Park. All proceeds from the various booths were donated to Boys' Town.

Saturday's pageantry started with Dean Wilson lighting the torch which was carried to the Grotto by Kappa Sigma. Pi Kappa Alpha won the games trophy and Kappa Alpha took the overall Greek Week trophy.

MINERS WIN OPENER

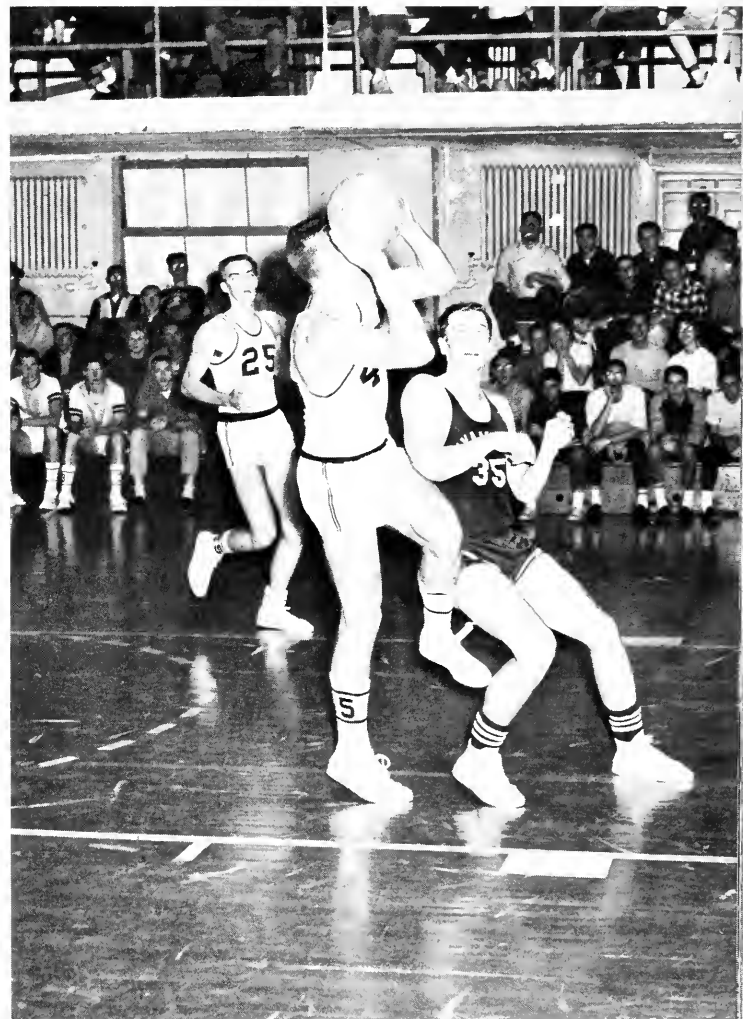

100-70

The end of the football season brought life to the gymnasium as the basketball tryouts and practices commenced.

Although this year's roundball squad seemed to have quite a bit more speed than those of the past few years, coach Dewey Allgood was plagued by last year's graduations, which left him with only two returning lettermen.

Rebound control played a big part in Miner's victory.

ROLLAMO BOARD

William Crede, Associate Editor

The function of the Rollamo Board is to compile picture and word descriptions of the happenings during a school year at the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy. These descriptions, laid out in organized form, provide a candid view of life at MSM. Membership on the Board is open to all students as tryouts for one year. Staff members are elected on a merit basis from the group of tryouts who have served for at least one complete year.

ACS

A swiftly growing organization in an increasingly important field of engineering, the American Ceramics Society unites the undergraduate ceramic engineers through its membership. To promote interest in the professional aspects of ceramic engineering, technology, and science are the fundamental goals of the ACS. Emphasis on scholarship and character in the thoughts of Ceramic students is stressed in this organization.

W.T. SHRENK SOCIETY

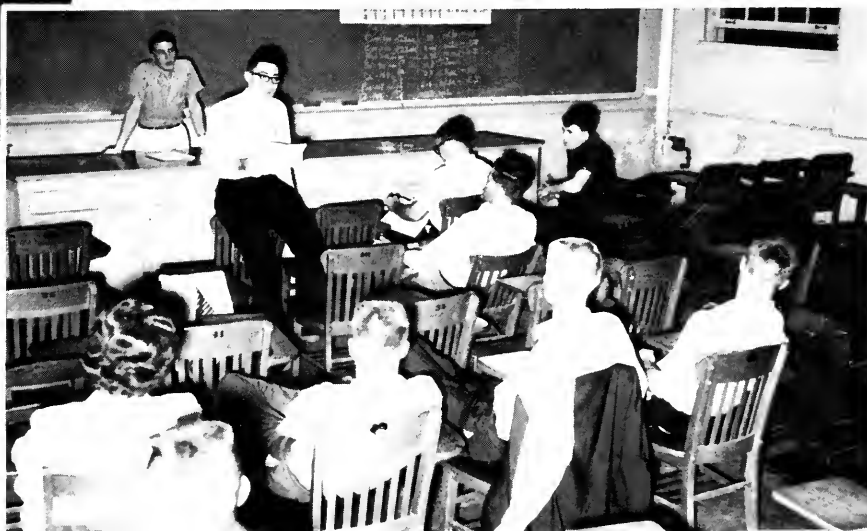

The W. T. Schrenk Chemical Society was organized specifically for chemistry majors at the Missouri School of Mines. The organization is officially affiliated with the American Chemical Society, which gives its members an opportunity to develop leadership and professional stature.

The purposes of the Society are threefold: to acquaint students with professional opportunities for chemists; to keep them abreast of current advances in chemistry; and to establish rapport between the students and faculty.

Meetings are held every third week with a program usually presenting a speaker or informative movie. Spring and fall outings are also sponsored.

ASCE

Refreshments after meeting.

The ASCE Student Chapters are established to serve civil engineering students by supplementing their college courses with those professional contacts and associations which are so valuable to the practicing engineer.

The organization acts as a medium for developing principles of personal and public relations. The many activities of the student chapter contribute to mental development and mature practical application of knowledge.

Pre-meeting discussion.

Since its founding at the University of Illinois in 1922, Chi Epsilon has grown to become the only well-established national civil engineering honor fraternity. Chi Epsilon came to the School of Mines campus thirteen years ago, and now holds a position of respect and admiration among the other organizations.

Increased achievement, paralleled by increased efficiency for cultural betterment of man, is the objective of this honor organization.

IEEE

The IEEE is a new organization on the campus, incorporating the ideals and purposed of the AIEE and the IRE, which it replaces. It provides a meeting spot where all electrical engineers can exchange information. The student chapter presents an outstanding speaker on electrical engineering each month. Through its activities, members broaden their knowledge of the numerous specialities available to electrical engineers.

SAE

The goal of the Society of Automotive Engineers is to help the student develop character and leadership while keeping its members well informed on the latest advancements and developments in design, production, operation, and maintenance of automobiles and aircraft. Industrial field trips, the annual automobile safety check, the annual student papers contest, and presentations from prominent industrial representatives combine to help promote objectives.

AFS

During its fifteen years on the MSM campus, AFS has enjoyed a remarkable growth. Today, this chapter is the largest student chapter in the United States.

In attempting to advance metal-casting techniques, AFS employs the use of lectures and social activities. A field trip to St. Louis, with a visit to two foundries, helps to strengthen the ties between the foundry and the student. This, plus an annual summer outing attended by both faculty and students, are but two of the many opportunities offered by membership in AFS.

AIME

Joint meeting of ASME and AIME.

The purpose of the American Institute of Mining, Petroleum, and Metallurgical Engineers is to bridge the gap between the student in his studies and the professional engineer. This is accomplished by having guest speakers from industry and by taking field trips. Talks in the past year ranged from fishing-tool operations to the Moho project.

Mr. Foxx, AIME National President, presenting "Oldtimers Club" Award to Walter Mueller.

Dr. Clark gives the explanation.

SIGMA GAMMA EPSILON

Students of the earth sciences, petroleum engineering, mining, ceramics, metallurgy, and geology are united in the honorary society of Sigma Gamma Epsilon. The primary objectives of the society are the scholastic and scientific advancement of its members, and the extension of friendly relations between schools devoted to the earth sciences.

KERAMOS

In July of 1947, the Keramos, a national professional fraternity open to outstanding students in ceramic engineering, technology, and science was established on the MSM campus. Since then, the organization has been promoting scholarship, stimulating mental development, and developing interests in the professional aspects of ceramic engineering.

The student members of the organization are chosen on the basis of their record of scholarship, character, and promise of success in the ceramic field.

The C. L. Dake Geological Society was organized in 1950. The Society is named in honor of Dr. Charles Lawrence Dake, former professor and chairman of the Geology department. The members are students from all curricula who share a common interest in geological sciences. The activities of the society include having guest speakers, field trips, and instructional movies.

Geological sciences main interest of Dake Society.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

The Beta Omicron chapter of Alpha Phi Omega consists of students who, at some time, were active in scouting and who have average scholarship or better. The purpose of Alpha Phi Omega is to assemble college men in the Scout Oath and Law, to develop friendship, and to promote service to humanity.

BLUE KEY

Blue Key National Honor Fraternity was founded at the University of Florida in 1924. The MSM chapter was established on March 23, 1933.

Blue Key, whose membership includes many campus leaders, has as its aim, service to the school and to the student body. Blue Key fulfills its motto, "Serving I Live," by publishing a student directory each year and by providing guides for school functions such as Parent's Day and Homecoming. Blue Key chooses new members on the basis of character, scholarship, student activity, and service.

TAU BETA PI

The Tau Beta Pi Association was founded at Lehigh University in 1885 with the specific purpose of recognizing those of distinguished scholarship and exemplary character in the field of engineering. The local chapter, Missouri Beta, was organized in 1906 and, since its beginning, has been the goal of all conscientious engineering students. Members are chosen from the upper one fifth of the senior class and from the upper one eighth of the junior class only after extensive testing by the society.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Baptist Student Union was organized on the M.S.M. campus in 1947 and serves to link the student with the local churches, and to promote fellowship and Christian entertainment among the students. Activities are many and varied. Each year there are conventions and retreats of both state and nation-wide scope for BSUer's. Intramural teams are entered in all major sports. Socials are an important and regular part, whether they are banquets, parties, or just some "goofin' off" around the B.S.U. Center. Devotional activities play a basic part with Vespers, held Monday—Thursday; topics are planned to inspire and challenge.

ENGINEERS' CLUB

The Engineers' Club, located at 1100 Elm, is the oldest of the co-op clubs. Founded in 1934, the club serves to provide Independent students with the highest possible standard of living on a non-profit basis. The Engineers provide a strong campus contribution to the intramural program and endeavor to promote the best possible student relationship within the organization.

At present, the club operates at a membership of 135 under the watchful eye of our cooks, Iva Duncan and Lilly Snodgrass.

TECH CLUB

Since 1948 when it was first organized, the Tech Club has tried to produce the best in intramural and varsity sports as well as the best in food. During the last six years the Tech Club has won five overall intramural championships and great respect as an organization.

This year the Tech Club purchased its house at 1310 Pine and has become incorporated. Membership stands at 140. Officers this year are: Charles Campbell, President; Harry J. Leamy, Secretary-Treasurer; and Ladimir J. Aubrecht, Business Manager.

Founded in 1904 on Masonic principles, Acacia is fast becoming a strong national fraternity. The MSM chapter was installed in November of 1958, and has steadily grown since that date.

The past school year showed the Acacians with a true spirit in their participation in every fraternity and campus activity. Scholarship was again the main goal of the house. High-lighting the year socially were the Black and Gold Formal, St. Pat's, and Greek Week.

DELTA SIGMA PHI

In the six short years since the establishment of Delta Sigma Phi on the Miner campus, Delta Epsilon chapter has built a fine record of high scholarship and outstanding campus leadership. During the 1962-'63 school year, Delta Sig had men in almost every departmental and honorary organization on campus.

Delta Epsilon chapter was honored this year by the Delta Sigma Phi International Headquarters by being presented the Sigma Award for outstanding chapter leadership. Delta Sigma Phi places extreme importance on chapter leadership in order to promote the Fraternity motto, "Engineered Leadership."

One of the first fraternities at MSM, Kappa Sigma has assumed a continuing role of excellence throughout its 59 years on campus. Good scholarship, the prime objective of the Beta Chi chapter, was again maintained at a high level.

The Beachcomber party, St. Pat's, and Greek Week highlighted the fine calendar of events. The strong Kappa Sigma spirit of brotherhood, coupled with scholastic, social and campus activities have made the Beta Chi chapter a strong fraternity in a strong Greek system at MSM.

Phi Alpha's social calendar included a very successful street dance on the Homecoming weekend, a Pledge Dance, the annual Shipwreck Party, St. Pat's and Greek Week.

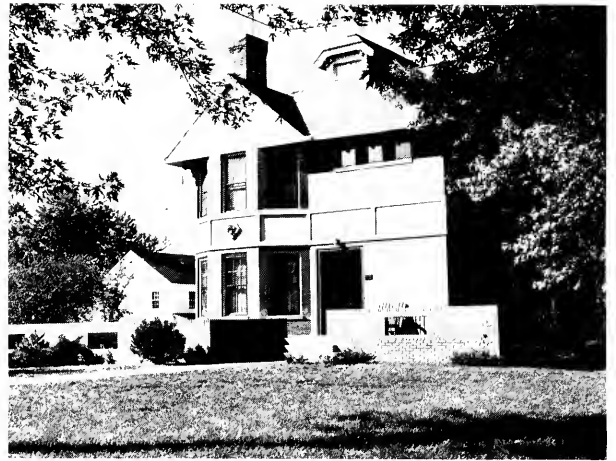

This past year Phi Alpha helped in the remodeling of the home of a needy Rolla resident, and held a Christmas party for some underprivileged children of Rolla.

Phi Kappa Theta is a national social fraternity for Catholic men. The local chapter, Missouri Mu, is a descendant of the Order of Cardinal Mercier and has been on campus since 1925. It has always been a strong chapter, both on campus and within its own national organization.

SIGMA NU

Sigma Nu, the first national fraternity on this campus, experienced another successful year in 1962-'63. The capturing of the swimming trophy led to another fine showing in intramurals. The chapter was also proud of its many varsity lettermen. With its fine heritage acquired from past years, the men of Sigma Nu are looking forward to many more and better productive school years.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

The young, yet swiftly growing fraternity of Sigma Phi Epsilon, has made its presence strongly felt since its beginning on the MSM campus in 1947. Because of the high average required for initiation, Sig Ep has rated fourth in campus grade point over the past five years. There is always a Sig Ep among any group of campus leaders. The "red door" is known for some of the best parties, given by the friendliest house on campus.

Sigma Pi's House.

The Alpha Iota Chapter of Sigma Pi Fraternity, originally known as the Prospectors Club, was formally installed on the MSM campus in April of 1933. The principle objects are to advance truth and justice, to promote scholarship, to encourage chivalry, to diffuse culture and to develop character in the service of God and man.

To supply its members with a well-rounded social life, the fraternity supplements the academic year with several social functions which are enjoyed by active members, pledges, and alumni.

The scholastic, social and athletic endeavors of Sigma Tau Gamma have echoed this fraternity's activity on the School of Mines campus. The optimistic outlook of the men of Alpha Omega chapter has been a great factor in the building of campus prestige at Sigma Tau Gamma.

Outstanding party weekends of the year were the White Rose Banquet and Formal, the Valentine Party, and St. Pat's. The men of Sig Tau also enjoyed having a Christmas benefit party for some under-privileged children of Rolla.

THETA XI

The oldest national fraternity on the Miner campus, Theta Xi, reached new heights of achievement this past year. The spirit of the men of Theta Xi made every undertaking a worthwhile and successful step in proving the fraternity's strength in Rolla.

Completing a plan for national expansion, Theta Xi recently initiated twenty-one new chapters through a merger with Kappa Sigma Kappa Fraternity. This year the house participated in an aggressive intramural, social, and scholastic program with high hopes of advancement during the year.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The purpose of the Intrafraternity Council is to promote harmonious relations between the public, the college, and the fraternities.

The IFC at MSM is composed of 32 members representing the 16 social fraternities on campus. Each fraternity elects a new member each year to serve on the Council for two years.

The IFC sponsors such events as the IFC Sing, Greek Week, and many other social and charitable functions.

EDITOR'S NOTE

At the time of this writing, the 1963 Rollamo is ready to go to press. The Rollamo Board would like to thank everyone who has helped to bring this year's annual toward its final stages of completion.

PROFESSOR KARL MOULDER, with his guidance and understanding, has been an immense help to the staff. The photographers, KEN VERADY, GERRY OLNEY, and JERRY KETTLER, have done an outstanding job in handling picture production. Also thanks to our secretary, JUDY SIECKHAUS, who has typed the copy.

The Board extends special thanks to MR. DEL VALLE for his professional photography and to MR. HARRY SWAIN of St. Louis, for his expert assistance in production and building photography.

ROBERT H. SIECKHAUS, Editor
